DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

It is noted that all claims 1-9 will be examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Millier.

The patent to Millier teaches structure as claimed including first work surface, second work surface, hardware to allow for movement of the work trundle table.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2, 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Millier. The patent to Millier teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including first and second work surface spaced at a distance from each. The spacing distance is a matter of desirability and ergonomics which would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art. The method of use would have been obvious in view of the structures as structures are entitled to all of its uses..

Claims 3, 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Millier as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Morrey. The patent to Millier teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including a table top with peripheral guard, the only difference being that a sink is not included. However, the patent to Morrey teaches the use of providing a sink for a table to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Millier to include a sink, as taught by Morrey since such structure is conventional structure used in the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed. The provision of a peripheral guard at desired locations to preclude movement is well known and commercially available.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Millier as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Tilley. The patent to Millier teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including a trundle table structure, the only difference being that an additional storage structure, such as drawer is not shown. However, the patent to Tilley teaches the use of additional drawers or storage structure to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Millier to include additional drawers, as taught by Tilley since such structure is conventional alternative structures providing additional storage, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Hart, Clarke, Beddawi, Kamp et al, Philips et al, Lahmann, Davis,, Japanese 5-68613 teach structure similar to applicant's.
